Thirty Lives Are Lost In Forest Fire In Ontario

MAY RUN GREATER

Habitation Over Radius Of 2,500 Square Miles Has Been Wiped Out

PREMIER DRURY GOES TO FIGHT THE FLAMES

Will Direct Campaign Against Spread Of The Fire
In Person

(By International News Service)
TORONTO, Oct. 5.—Thirty lives have been lost in forest fires that are raging in the eastern part of the province of Ontario, said advices from Timiskaming today.

The towns of Hailebury and North Cobalt have been destroyed.

All the timber and human habitations over a radius of 2,500 square miles have been destroyed. The damage will reach millions of dollars. A large section of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario railroad line was wiped out.

Premier Drury departed for the fire zone on a special train to direct the fight against the flames in person.

It is feared that sisters of the Roman Catholic Hospital at Providence, who remained behind to re-sue helpless patients, perished in the flames which swept over the town.

More than 5,000 persons are homeless.

In addition to Hailebury and North Cobalt, the towns of Keaslip and Charlton have been destroyed.

Englehart has been partly destroyed.

Fourteen hundred refugees have left Cobalt for North Bay.

CROP ESTIMATES ARE ENCOURAGING

The bureau of crop estimates places the crop in better condition and the yield much larger than anticipated, and at the price will yield big revenues for the farmers of the South. The cotton crop in the Tennessee Valley is good to fair, this statement being borne out by the statements of the leading planters in the county, and it is being estimated that the yield in the county will be well up toward the figures for 1913. The planters are selling the staple as fast as they can pick it, and are hurrying back home to gather it as fast as their force will permit.

This is quite in contrast with past years as they would drive to town and wait many hours before finally closing the deal. All the gins of the county are crowded to capacity, and should the pretty weather continue, the present month will see the major part of it gathered.

Isadora Duncan Barred From U. S.

Isadora Duncan, famous American-born dancer, lost her American citizenship when she married youthful Serge Yessineh, a Russian poet. When the pair arrived in New York they were notified they could not land and that they would be deported. The reason was secret. Miss Duncan appealed.

DAM NEIGHBORHOOD UNITED STATES HAS HAS APPEARANCE OF LOST CONTEST OVER HISTORIC WAR DAYS SEIZURE OF SHIPS

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The United States government has lost its contest with the Norwegian government over the seizure of ships during the war, according to advices reaching officials in Washington today.

The international court at the Hague has just handed down a decision sustaining the Norwegian claim for $17,000,000 against the American government for ships seized in American ports during the war.

The American government had contended for a settlement of $3,000,000.

"We are working at present between 1,300 and 1,400 men," said Mr. Skinner, head of the employment bureau. "Our skilled labor is under civil service rules and the supply is adequate. We have no trouble recruiting all the general labor we need."

In speaking of the efficiency of the labor at the dam Mr. Williams said it was 100 per cent more efficient than it was during the turmoil of the war.

"The vital point of interest on Wilson Dam at the present, said
Mr. Williams, "is Center Coffers where the work is going and must go forward rapidly. The reason for this haste is that when high water comes on the river it will be too late."

"We are straining every nerve to get to pouring concrete at this center position. The coffers are not sufficiently large."

DEPARTMENT CRITICIZED
(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Appearing before Judge Wilkerson, Donald Richberg, attorney for the shop crafts, today accused the department of justice of lack of good faith in the proposal to expedite the final disposition of the injunction case against rail strike leaders.

In a letter to Solicitor General Beck, made public, Richberg said the use of summary equity procedure to obtain tentative conviction of 400,000 men of criminal conspiracy upon evidence found solely in undigested mass of ex parte affidavits, "reeking with heresy and perjury" has been made the means of depriving these "men

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 5.

—The second game of the world's series, New York's personal, private and exclusive own, came down to a decision today under a sun that blistered and an atmosphere that oppressed. It was 85 in the shade and very little of that as the Yankees and Giants resumed their private little war for the world title and the mid-August shirt sleeves were quite popular in the crowded stand.

It was the first shirt sleeves world series crowd in recollection.

Another great gathering turned out for the event, but the slightly gala "spirit of yesterday's crowd was missing somehow. They had a suggestion of repression about them as befits one who comes as a matter of duty rather than enjoyment.

KING ASKS PEOPLE TO SUPPORT FIGHT FOR THRACE; PACT AT MUDANIA READY

Final Agreement Between Turks
And Allies To Be Signed
Late Today

GREEK ATTITUDE ONLY CAUSE FOR ANXIETY

Report That British Forces Have Been Withdrawn Are Denied by Legation

(By International News Service)
ATHENS, Oct. 5.—Greece is making preparations today for a new war.

King George issued a proclamation, calling upon the people to support a conflict against the Turks in Thrace. Mobilization has been started.

The Greek revolutionary committee has called for volunteers. The Thracian army is being reorganized.
It is reported that the recruiting offices are swamped with recruits.

A report was circulated here that the British had withdrawn from the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, but it was subsequently denied by the British legation.

General Nider, who has been appointed commander in chief of the Greek army in Thrace, has been instructed to oppose any Turkish inroads, but to consent to administration of the district by an allied commission "on condition that such administration is temporary."

TURKS ADVANCE.
(By International News Service)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5.—

Turkish Nationalist cavalry appeared today at Kandra, on the Black Sea.
This is within the so-called neutral zone established by the allies east of Constantinople. So far as known here, there are no allied troops at Kandra.

AGREEMENT MADE.
(Associated Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The agreement reached by the conference at Mu-dania will be signed some time today, according to private dispatches. The main line of the agreement, says Figaro, are:

(1) The British and Turks to withdraw from the neutral zone on the southern shore of the Dardanelles.

(2) The Turks agree to the allies remaining in Constantinople during the peace negotiations on condition that Kemalist civil authorities also be installed there.

(3) The Greek army to evacuate Thrace within ten days. If the Greek government refuses to give the necessary orders the allied fleet is to blockade the Greek ports and the Kemalist forces are to cross the Dardanelles and drive the Greek troops out of Thrace.

Dispatches do not say whether the Greek representative accepted these conditions.

THE WORLD BACK TO NORMALCY AS RE- GARDS INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

German militarism was broken up by the triumph of the Allies in the late World war but it was not destroyed. The world is slipping—slipping back to the old discredited "catch as catch can" methods. Secret diplomacy has been restored, and no holds are barred in the present struggles of the nations. The logic of events can mean but one thing, namely that sooner or later the world will drift into more new and terrible wars. The sacrifices made by the peaceably inclined nations, from the mad day in 1914 when war was forced upon them, until the armistice was signed, seem to have been made in vain.

Those who fondly believed a final victory over force was in sight have been bitterly disappointed.

The history of the comeback of militarism, began the day the United States of America allowed such men as Henry Cabot Lodge to lead them away from the League of Nations. Relying on this country to help bring the world to a peaceful basis England began a quiet campaign against possible Turkish domination, and seized Constantinople. Because her own people were too war-weary to carry on an active campaign, the Greeks—who lost their only real opportunity against the Turks when they allowed Constantine to keep them from joining the Allies in the World war, were backed by England to break the power of the Turk in the Near East.

France, who has large territorial interests in Syria, gave a kind of passive encouragement to the Turks. When these unspeakable people had won a smashing victory over the Greeks and threatened Constantinople, France joined England in a hurry call to the civilized powers to keep the barbarous Turk from invading Europe. But it was all to no purpose. The ideals of the war and those prevalent immediately following it, were dead. The so-called civilized powers contented themselves with pious protestations, such as Secretary Hughes sent out in behalf of this country. What was profitable to the British as regards the Turk would have been advantageous to all the rest of the world but just as the League of Nations was refused, so was the chance offered to keep the Turks in their proper place refused by "the powers." As matters now stand, with the Turk standing before Constantinople, the gateway to Europe, all that England can do—the only nation except poor defeated Greece that has dared to oppose Turkey—is to get out of the present mess as best she can. She is like a surrounded company, all she can do is to fight her way out the best she can. The same kind of conditions—although not so acute—exist between most of the other nations of the world. We are back to pre-war conditions—the world is getting back to normalcy with a vengeance.

REAL PROGRESS.

Humanity has ever had some form of co-operation. Vaguely this instinct has reached out into the uncharted realm of the past, and struggling along through the ages, as the need for community interest became more and more apparent, ways were devised which laid the splendid foundation upon which is built the many forms of co-operation which is being practiced today. In the remote past, communication with one section of a community with another was accomplished by the blowing of a horn or the ringing of a bell. Certain number of blasts from the horn was understood by other settlers of that community, as was certain number of strokes of the bell. Transportation was made in wagons drawn by oxen, and was indeed slow, but sure.

Today in every community however remote there is the telephone, with which in an instant communication can be had with the most remote sections, and every detail of a business or social proposition can be talked over as if face to face. It is now possible in the country community districts to summon neighbors from every section of that community in a remarkably short time, be it on business, sickness or pleasure.

With the automobile it is possible to gather at a given point, attend a community club, church or social gathering, and be back at home before the old manner of transportation could be said to be well under way.

NATIONAL DEBTS AND PROSPERITY.

A recent report of Babson, the well known and reliable statistician, states the national debt of the United States, is as if we owed six cents out of every dollar we owned. Babson also stated that France owes to the extent that for every dollar she owns, she owes fifty one cents of it, and Germany is put down as owing in the neighborhood of $2.60 for every dollar she owns.

It will be seen by a comparison of the three countries spoken of, that this country is far and away beyond the others.

As for resources, this country is not to be mentioned in the same association with such countries as France and Germany. Our corn, cotton and grain fields, are broader and richer by far, than those of any other country. The mineral interests of America surpass those of any other country; and so on throughout the long list of the assets that go to make up a nation's wealth, we far out rival any other nation of people. As regards resources, while Germany, according to Mr. Babson, owes a lot more money than France, that country is put down as being far richer than France.

It is stated that there are vast stretches of farming lands in Germany, that for size and fertility surpass the farm lands of France. It is said that Germany has coal to the amount of 200,000,000,000 tons—a much larger supply than has England or France. So it must not be concluded that because Germany owes more actual cash than France, that she is poorer or less able to meet her obligations. There are many men carrying debts, "up to their necks"; but who on account of stocks, bonds, or lands they may own, are in much more prosperous circumstances than some men who may owe little and yet have little to draw upon.

It is being argued now in the public press, that considering her resources, despite her huge war indebtedness, Germany is well able to pay France every penny; and that she is hundreds of times more able to pay her debts than France is able to loose what is coming to her.

It will be readily seen from what has been stated that, not always does national prosperity depend on how little a nation owes. Prosperity for a nation or for an individual depends first of all upon resources, and then on ability and willingness to use those resources to the best advantage.

THE FRENCH TIGER IS TO VISIT AMERICA.

Clemenceau, the war Premier of France, is scheduled to pay a visit to America. If the expected happens and the old Tiger actually comes, the nation is in for a treat. He is credited with ability and wit. He is sarcastic and unmerciful in his attacks on his political enemies. It is reported that he said in a campaign against the present President of France: "There are two perfectly useless things in the world the yermiform appendix and Poincare." It is said that while Clemenceau, will do anything for the interests of the French nation, that is personally reliable and honest.

He believes in laughter and if he laughs while in America he will be resistless. Almost any kind of a witty speaker can get away with anything he wished before an American audience, regardless of his standing as a man; but if Clemenceau, who is a really great man, and an honest one, decides to speak to American audiences he will get one ovation after another. Clemenceau, is the man who when the French deputies, sought to ring politics into the discussions during the war, would cry, "I make war, I make war".

When Premier, if minor objections were made to his plans and policies at the time the enemies of his country seemed about to swoop down on Paris, Clemenceau would remind the deputies—"The Germans are at Noyon."

Since the great Frenchman has delayed his visit, and the war and its memories is swiftly passing away, he may not receive as loud a welcome as Viviani, and General Foch, but he will be heartily and gladly received.

OPOSSUM TIME.

Persimmons are ripe and so are possums. This the annual time when the small boy and his dog hie to the woods where the persimmon trees abound, intent on catching the unwary smiling denizen of the woods. "Possum and taters" will ever be a phrase with the colored brother which excites in him savory odors of this baked dish with potatoes all around.

He will work hard all the day with the expectation when the days work is done, to have a chance to get a specimen of this white coated "critter" for his next days meal. The oldest inhabitants remember how anxiously the old negro would await the coming of the first frost, when possums were calculated to be ripe, and much has been written and said about this favorite dish of the colored man, and he will ever be associated with it.

DOES A CONGRESSMAN EARN HIS PAY? IT LOOK VERY MUCH THAT WAY.

Does a congressman earn his pay? Fred C. Kelly, writing in "The Nation's Business" says he does, and he presents a very clear case for the nation's law makers, showing just how the average member of the House of Representatives manages to put in his time, and how he sometimes finds an ordinary day entirely too short for the tasks he must perform.

Ever since there have been congressmen there have been flippant ones to say the job is sinecure all pay and no work. Sifted to the bottom, the charge may be found a baseless one. A congressman's pay is insufficient if he has a family and attempts to live as a National law maker is expected to live in Washington, and his every hour is occupied with work of some kind, often work he has to do but which his pay does not cover.

Mr. Kelly says: "The trouble with congress isn't lack of toil or perspiration. Most members are on the job from nine or ten o'clock in the morning until late at night. He adds that "most congressmen have so many requests for favors from individuals that it interferes seriously with their efforts in behalf of the general public. The typical letter to a congressman is about something not of the slightest interest to anybody but the writer. Neutrally this is the very kind of letter that a congressman cannot afford to ignore. We can all tolerate having our congressmen ignore the world at large, but when he overlooks us, we feel that he must be altogether too indifferent to his sense of duty, and that it is time to call a halt. Hence we pick up a war club and try to wallop him at the first opportunity."

This is the real trouble about the congressman and his work. He has lots of work and much of it is work he should not be expected to do. It is almost impossible, Mr. Kelly shows, for a congressman to work efficiently and intelligently if he is much concerned over the question of being re-elected. But he is almost sure to work hard and long. Mr. Kelly says few congressmen limit themselves to an eight hour day.

The "working schedule" of a congressman, furnished by one of them to Mr. Kelley shows a lively routine. It starts at 9 a. m., when he reaches his office and finds 54 letters which must be read and pondered over. The schedule shows strikingly, sometimes amusingly, the things that arise in the every-day life of a congressman. It covers the following detail.

9 a. m. Arrive at office. Read morning mail. Fifty-four letters. Ponder over these.

10. Start dictating replies to letters. Have secretary telephone to various departments for information sought by letter writers. Call War Department and make appointment to interview Assistant Secretary of War and present evidence to clear record of young soldier dishonorably discharged.

10:45. Interrupted by callers. Delegation to ask me to confer with our senators and the President, to urge appointment of incompetent candidate for federal judgeship.

11:20. Another delegation to explain to me why best public interest will be served if I vote for more tariff duties on articles manufactured in my home district, but for reduced tariff on all other articles.

12 o'clock noon. Congress convenes. Sit and listen to stupid speeches and look wise for benefit of sightseeing party of school teachers from home in visitors' gallery. Keep writing mail was all answered.

12:30 p. m. Downstairs for brief lunch and then back to office to work on correspondence.

1. Another mail, containing several annoying requests.

1:30. Gong sounds for roll call. Not for vote. Somebody opposing a bill of small consequence makes point that less than a voting quorum is on the floor. Waste hour on legislative dilly-dallying. Wish I had the nerve to ignore all unimportant roll calls.

2:30 S. m. Mail dictated in forenoon.

3. Dictate more letters.

3:30 Another roll call.

4:30. Back at office. Three boarding-school girls, one of them daughter of prominent politician at home, want me to escort them to White House and arrange for them to get a glimpse of President's dog, Laddie Roy.

5. Vote on amendment to pending bill. Bill doesn't matter one way or another. But I inquire what it's about and vote as intelligently as possible.

5:45. Adjournment. Back to office. Another mail. Read it, but too late to dictate replies. Getting behind in correspondence. Go to my hotel to dinner.

7. Sit in lobby trying to absorb talk of other members.

8:15. Read reports of public committee hearings on tariff and other bills.

3:40. Telephone call from Washington correspondent of paper in nearest big city to my district asking if it is true that I shall not be a candidate for re-election. Explain to him that report is a base falsehood doubtless started by political enemies.

10. Start to bed.

10:20. Telegram from man back home asking if I got his letter about passport matter.

10:45. Half asleep, think of speech would like to make, but don't dare.

If you are thinking of sometime breaking into congress it would be well to get the idea out of your head that the job is an easy one. It appears to be very much the other kind.—Anniston Star.

THE NEW CONGRESS.

The Congress as at present constituted is overwhelmingly Republican in both branches. The majorities are top heavy.

The abnormal swing of 1920 carried many normally Democratic districts into the Republican column.

The House of Representatives contains 308 Republicans, 131 Democrats and one Socialist.

The Senate has 59 Republicans and 37 Democrats.

The "breaks" are all in favor of continued Republican control of the Senate this year, but it is conceded that the House majority will be whittled down to a few votes, if it is not destroyed entirely.

The Republicans must return 218 members to the lower House to control. They can afford to lose 85 seats they now occupy, but not more. They realize this and they will concentrate on the seats which have been regarded as doubtful in normal years. They will make no vigorous drive for seats in Democratic districts, with one exception, the Fourth Tennessee. They want that district because of the probable effect the defeat of Cordell Hull would have on the party in the nation.

Among the Democratic Senators who come up for re-election, five are from the normally Republican states of Ohio, Rhode Island, New Mexico and Wyoming. Local conditions will make the result in Missouri doubtful.

In ten other normally Republican states the Democrats feel that they have a fighting chance to elect their candidates. In some of them local conditions govern. They are New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Michigan, Indiana and Washington.

The Democrats are expected to regain the four seats in the South, three in Tennessee and one in Texas, which they lost in 1920. They should retrieve their losses in all of the border states, where large sections of the electorate have Democratic tendencies.

The most impressive gains, however, will be registered in New York and Ohio. It is not at all improbable that the New York delegations, now divided 33 to 9 in favor of the Republicans, will show a slight majority for the Democrats in November. The indications also are that the Democrats of New Jersey will redeem the five districts there which are theirs by right. Ohio now has a solid Republican delegation of 22, but the Democrats are expected to win at least eight seats there, which would restore the 1918 balance.

The Democrats have a difficult task to carry the House, but the indications are that they will do it. The pendulum is swinging backward from the extreme of 1920 and the new Congress will have many new faces.—Nashville Tennessean.

The ones who confine themselves to a small circumscribed area, always receiving and giving off nothing in return, will soon find themselves left alone in their small circumscribed lines. The rose would not be near so much admired if it simply bloomed and failed to give off the sweet perfume which has made it famous; it sheds its rich perfume unconsciously and gives to all alike. It is no respecter.

HEFLIN CONTINUES FIGHT ON HARDING

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Senator Heflin, of Alabama, in a letter to President McAdams, of the American Bankers Association, urges that the bankers convention now in session in New York, should not adopt a resolution endorsing W. P. G. Harding for reappointment to the federal reserve board.

Senator Heflin reiterated charges that the board's alleged credit deflation policy had "paralyzed business, closed industries, driven millions out of employment, caused thousands to kill themselves and destroyed property valued at millions."

ALL READ THE WANT ADS.

Believing that more people read the want ads in newspapers more closely than any other section, The Independent-Reporter, a large newspaper in Maine, sent out a questionnaire to his readers.

The business manager says that not only did he try the readers out one time but worked for two years with his answers. The results of these questionnaires showed that 60 per cent of the readers read the want ads and that was the heaviest of any section of the paper.

The next part of the paper read by most people is what?—make a guess. Nothing more nor less than the personals: John Jones went to Moulton and Sally Smith is visiting in Huntsville.

There are merchants who imagine that it costs too much to advertise, says the Maine publisher, but the shrewd store keeper slips over a few want ad bargains every day. His competitors pay little attention, to this and he is enabled to build up a strong run of customers on any part of his store he chooses to feature.

Furthermore, the Maine publisher says, not one newspaper in a thousand knows its want ad section is the strongest pulling power he has in his paper.

Has Appearance Of Historic War Days

Efficient to hold back too mighty a rush of waters. When we have completed the rock cavity to pour our concrete fillings into the work will rush along. We are now pouring concrete on the power house end of the dam.

It was stated that while a few hundred thousand of the original Democratic appropriation to the dam was still left it was melting like a cake of ice in the hot sun. It was learned that the $7,500,000 now available, according to a recent act of congress would be gone into shortly.

Many Auto Tags
Sold in Morgan

At the office of Probate Judge L. P. Troup it was learned that many have respected the new tax year which began on Oct. 1, and have accordingly taken out licenses for the various businesses in which they are engaged, as the state and county requires.

Many car tags have been paid for during the past few days and several have gotten their hunter's license in order to be ready on November 1, when the open season on quail take effect.

Quail in all sections of the county are plentiful, according to those who have kept track of this important thing to the hunters. The birds have had a most favorable time in which to hatch and rear their young.

Farmers, however, are realizing the money value of having boll weevil catchers at work for them and refuse, in many instances to allow hunting on their land.

WATER FOR STOCK
BECOMING SCARCE

Many sections of the county are reporting that water for stock is becoming scarce. Some places which have yielded plenty of water for this purpose for the past 15 years, are becoming very short indeed. In many instances water is being hauled considerable distances for stock water.

Those who are fortunate to live in close proximity to Flint creek have arranged to water stock there.

Many of the pastures have provisions so that stock can go to the creek at will and drink. Some wells are reported as going dry for the first time in many years also.

No rain of any consequence has fallen here in the past several weeks and should this condition continue great annoyance will be experienced.

SECOND AVENUE
MUCH IMPROVED

Second Avenue has been transformed from a thoroughfare where small promontories abounded, which made travel exceedingly unpleasant over it, to a smooth street which can be traveled with all ease.

After a lapse of several days another coat of asphalt will be applied.

When the final coat is laid down, this important street will be on a par with the other splendid streets of the city which have had attention from the city authorities during the past summer. The first stage of this work will be completed to a point connecting it with Lee Street perhaps today, and travel turned over it.

The city authorities are to be commended for this much needed improvement, and no doubt have the hearty thanks of a traveling public.

CITATIONS ISSUED.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 5.—Special.—Citations were issued by the public service commission today to the Illinois Central and St. Louis and San Francisco railroads to show why the commission should not require the establishment of more reasonable rates on sand and gravel from Hackelburg to Summitt and from other points to other destinations.

Woman Obtains
Release On Bond

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 5.—Donie Royle, who has been held in the Baldwin County jail for several months on a charge of complicity in the murder of Isham Tillman, will be released on a bond of one thousand dollars as a result of a decision of the court of appeals Wednesday afternoon which affirmed the decision of the Baldwin circuit court.

The woman was indicted with Freeman King for the killing of Tillman in the spring of 1921. King was convicted and is now serving a life sentence. The lower court held that the evidence against the woman was not strong enough to warrant her being held without the privilege of bail and the court of appeals, in an opinion by Presiding Judge Bricken, agreed with the decision of the lower court.

JUSTICE DELAYS

STILLMAN DECISION

(By International News Service) WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Justice Morschauer, of the supreme court, announced today that he would be unable to hand down his decision on the report of Referee Gleason in the Stillman divorce suit. Lengthy briefs handed up by the attorneys for both sides of the case, made it impossible for Justice Morschauer to complete his consideration of the evidence on time to make known his ruling at today's session of the court.

Wm. Richardson Dies Suddenly

AGREEMENT REACHED.

(By International News Service) CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5.—Final agreement between the allies and Turks to avert war in Asia Minor was expected to be signed in Mudania this afternoon. The Turks already have accepted most of the terms imposed by the allies.

The only cause for anxiety was the attitude of the Greeks who insist they will go to war for the defense of Thrace.

The allies have promised the Eastern half of Thrace to the Turks, despite the Greek opposition.

Without waiting for the arrival of the full Greek delegation the allied generals and Ismet Pasha drafted a six point agreement, which included withdrawal from Thrace of the Greek army. When the Greeks arrived at Mudania, they accepted five of the conditions but objected to the sixth which called for the surrender of eastern Thrace.

With the neutral zone clear of Turkish troops, all danger of a conflict between the Turks and British is considered past.

It is generally believed now that the threat of a war in Asia Minor is averted. The only ominous cloud is the possibility of an attack by the Greeks in Thrace.

Italy and France are looking to Great Britain to bring such pressure upon Greece as will prevent such an attack. The suggestion is being made at Mudania that the Near East conference be held at Soutari, instead of Venice.

G. O. P. CANDIDATES

NAMES ARE CHANGED

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily) MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 5.—

The list of nominations of the Republican party was changed in several instances by certificates received by William P. Cobb, secretary of state, today. T. B. McNamory of Albertville, Marshall County, was nominated for state auditor in opposition to W. B. Allgood, democratic nominee. It had been thought for several days that Mr. Allgood would be the only democratic nominee who would not have opposition.

T. H. Robertson, of Franklin County, who was nominated for secretary of state at the Republican convention, resigned the nomination and Major J. I. McKinney, of Montgomery, was nominated to take Mr. Robertson's place on the ticket. Major McKinney was first nominated for state game and fish warden. There is no such place in the state government, and the position of state commissioner of conservation, which the Republicans intended to tender to Major McKinney through their convention, will not be vacant until the term of I. T. Quinn expires two years hence.

J. W. Dodd declined to make the race for a member of the public service commission and H. A. Cathey, of Bessemer, was nominated for the position.

Hugh McEniry of Bessemer was nominated for associate justice of the supreme court and Homer Mitchell and J. S. Franklin were nominated for positions on the court of appeals.

Moulton News

MOULTON, Ala., Oct. 4.—Special.—At the regular session of the Lawrence County Board of Education Friday much business of importance was transacted and requests and petitions from numerous districts were considered; it was unanimously agreed that Monday, Oct. 16, be the time for opening the rural schools. This is two weeks earlier than ever. But the unusually dry weather and the short crop of cotton has already taken most of the staple from the fields and with an earlier opening the attendance for the session promises to be better than heretofore. Scarcely a vacancy exists in the rural schools at present. The county institute is to be held in Moulton on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 12 and 13; Miss Cassie R. Spencer of the State Department of Education is to represent the state at this annual gathering of teachers.

Considerable interest was shown in the postponed contest between Jack Caruth and W. B. Lee, candidates for sheriff of Lawrence County in the recent Democratic primary. The case came up Monday before the county executive committee. Mr. Caruth was represented by W. W. Callahan of Decatur; Mr. Lee by D. C. Almon of Albany-Decatur and C. M. Sherrod. The charges were that the election at the Moulton box was illegal inasmuch as it was claimed that some of the tickets were marked outside the booth; but little evidence was offered and almost the whole of the afternoon was devoted to the arguments of the attorneys. The executive committee on the evidence produced decided in favor of W. B. Lee who claimed the nomination by a majority of four votes.

Monday forenoon was a busy day in the county court before Judge J. E. Kump. An unusually heavy dock of with charges of violation of the

POLLY AND HER PALS

HUNTERS FLOCK TO BRITISH COLUMBIA WITH ADVENT OF THE HUNTING SEASON

British Columbia offers the best still remaining, easily accessible big game hunting territory on the continent. It is not necessary to go far afield from the railway and some of the best hunting grounds are as follows: Beginning at the east, there is the East Kootenay district, reached from Invermere. Two ranges may be hunted here; in the Rockies on the east are to be found moose, mule and whitetail deer, grizzly, cinnamon and black bear, while among the Selkirk on the west, are caribou, mule and whitetail deer, mountain goat, grizzly, cinnamon and black bear. Very satisfactory wild fowl shooting may be enjoyed on the lakes and flats in the late fall. Deer, grizzly and black bear, caribou and goat are found in the country around Chase. Deer are found from 4 miles of the town; bear from 20 miles; caribou beyond the 30 mile mark, and goat from 30 miles. Excellent game bird shooting is to be had here, including ducks, geese, pinnated and ruffed grouse with some snipe and plover at various points. Kamloops is the gateway to a rich sporting region where goats, brown, cinnamon, black and grizzly bear, small deer, moose and occasional caribou and sheep (3 varieties) are to be found. From here expeditions to the Fort Fraser country may be arranged—including about 176 miles of canoeing—where deer, bear and other large game may be shot. A hunting area rapidly growing in favor is the Cariboo District reached from Ashcroft. It is off the beaten path, therefore big game is plentiful and includes grizzly, black and brown bear, moose, caribou, goat and sheep. Fishing for gamey trout is another attraction of this region. Of course the Cassiar District to the north stands in a class by itself, for the cost of a hunting trip there prohibits a great influx of hunters, insuring good bags for those who hunt there. Thirteen hunters taken in by Frank Callbreath, the outfitter at Telegraph Creek, in 1921, shot 11 moose, 22 caribou, 21 goat, 22 sheep and 29 bear, ten of which were grizzlies.

October has opened with her brightest promises of good weather for completion of early gathering of crops throughout Lawrence County; the long continued drouth has hastened the gathering of the crop far advanced now for the season; but like many blessings the very cause of advanced gathering of the crop has increased the dust and lowered the water supply to such an extent that in many places stock water can scarcely be secured; gins run with difficulty and small saw mills have had to close down temporarily.

Mrs. Larkin Goodwin, of Montgomery, is the guest of her sister in law, Mrs. O. L. Judy.

Miss Irwin will spend a few days of this week with relatives in Decatur and from there go for the Fall and winter with relatives in Knoxville.

Mr. Ben Owens, of Columbus, Miss., is here on business this week.

Dr. J. W. Curl, of Albany, has just ended a very successful meeting at the Methodist Church; he won many friends in Moulton.

W. S. Dill, formerly county superintendent of education, in Lawrence County, now at Florence was a business caller in Moulton last week.

A large number of members of the local Baptist Church attended the Muscle Shoals Association Friday and Saturday at old Town Creek Church between Moulton and Mount Hope.

Jack Smith and others of Mount Hope were in Moulton on business.

ALFRED E. SMITH SMILES AT HIS NOMINATION

Alfred E. Smith, Ints.

The victory smile of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York when he won renomination in the Democratic State Convention at Syracuse.

Monday.

Philander Armstrong and Russell Preuit of Town Creek were business callers here Monday.

J. M. Houston, of Town Creek, and R. E. Coburn, of Courtland, attended meeting of the Board of Education Friday.

Miss Pettus of the high school faculty, spent the last week end with relatives at her home in Athens.

Jewish Physicians Honored.

During a long interval the popes were attended by Jewish physicians. In 1385 the Roman senate reduced the amount of tribute payable by the Jewish community because medical men of that race had refused to charge poor people for their services. Pope Boniface IX. gave a certificate or diploma to the Jewish physician Elias Sabbas and later addressed a document of the same scope—a sort of letter of recommendation—to Angelo.

SAW MILL BURNED.

HARTSELLE, Ala., Oct. 5.—The saw mill of D. C. Waugh, situated near here was burned Wednesday, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars in machinery and lumber. A pile of slabs had been set on fire near the mill. At some time during the progress of burning, the pile toppled over close enough to the mill property as to catch it on fire. Mr. Waugh has operated a saw mill for many years in this county, and the loss falls heavy on him. It is not known whether he carried insurance or not.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for seven years and I cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad. in the papers and said 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. R. J. LINTON, 1860 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.
